DAILY SENTINEL.

Monday, February 26, 1866.

For the Sentinel.

MESSRS EDITORS:—In your issue of the 7th inst., you are unintentionally unjust to me.—Your recollection of the movement in the Presbyterian Church for the amelioration of the blacks, and of the part I had in that movement, is clearly and grossly at fault.

The facts are so: About three years ago an address appeared in the "Southern Presbyterian Review" at Columbia, S. C., which, among other things, proposed to regulate the marriages of slaves by law. I amused the weariness of a prolonged illness, which confined me to my room, by reviewing the address in the point of a proposition for a slave marriage law. I urged then, and believe now, that such a law was incompatible with the relation of domestic slavery, was absurd in theory, and would prove impracticable. This was the extent of the article, which also appeared in "the Southern Presbyterian Review." The article flew in the face of what then and now I regard as a popular delusion in respect to slave marriages. But that it gave offence to any considerable pious portion of the Church, I never heard. It could offend only those whose lackadaizical piety, must make God himself vomit. At any rate I stand to the article. I do not know a single position or expression which I would recall.

You intimate that I opposed the modification of our State laws, which made it penal to teach slaves the simplest elements of knowledge. I did nothing of the sort; and I wonder how any man who had read the article, even fifty years ago, should not have remembered its terms and tenor better. I took distinct ground against those laws.

I hope every body has changed somewhat within the last five years. Henry Clay Whigs and all. The man who has suffered this mighty revolution to pass over him without change, may be very obstinate and very consistent, but I should despise his leadership in public affairs. There are, however, two opinions which I have adhered to longer, than we are accustomed to adhere to any thing in this fast age.

I have for long believed that negroes, even slaves, should testify in court. In the very article to which I have already alluded, I cited with applause a proposition to admit slaves to bear witness in certain cases against white men. If the whole truth must be told, (and it had as well be,) my opinion is that, with two exceptions, every human being who can count two or number the days of the week should be allowed to testify. Those exceptions embrace the relations of husband and wife, and of lawyer and client, which are so peculiarly domestic and confidential, that upon high grounds of public policy, I would exclude them.

But, with this saving, all, without regard to age, race, condition, religion, interest, morality or intelligence, should be heard. I never could understand why a slave should not be permitted to swear for or against his master, when our laws forced a son to be witness for or against his own father. Surely the relations cannot be closer in the one case than the other. I do not suffer myself to be imposed upon by the clap-trap of the press and the platform, about equality. The question purely concerns the investigation of truth in court with a view to the establishing of some right, or to the redress of some wrong—and what enquirer after truth was ever known deliberately to exclude evidence, come from what quarter it may! I declare I cannot comprehend the infatuation of our people, which gives them pause in this matter.

The first political campaign in which I actively participated was between Gov. Bragg and Gen. Dockery in 1854. I canvassed for Gen. Dockery. He was charged with having voted in the Convention of 1835 against the abolition of free negro suffrage, and was held up as the free negro candidate. Instead of denying the charge, or confessing and avoiding it by a special pleading, I boldly met it by defending the vote as at once wise and just. I did this upon two occasions, once in Mecklenburg and once in Cabarrus. I do not remember that my good Whig friends at that day were startled either with surprise or regret at my advocacy of the General's vote. I waive any argument of the question now. Let every one be persuaded in his own mind.

Pardon a word at leaving the whole subject. The curse of the South is, that she has a class—a large class of men, who are not satisfied to have followed the Confederacy mournfully to its grave. They demand for themselves and for others that we should also adhere to the idea of the Confederacy, after the Confederacy itself has perished. Now, I deem those ideas as much a part of the surrender made by Lee and Johnston as the arms and other munitions of war, which they handed over to Grant and Sherman.

Why cannot we learn, that as earnest, practical men, the Confederacy is no more to us than the Saxon Heptarchy? Let us bury the dead out of our sight, though they

"Leave a n me,
A Eight, a landmark on the cliffs of fame."

My conviction is deep, that a wise statesmanship, trampling over pride and prejudice, and coming promptly up to the plain demands of the situation, without wrath or doubting, would in two years efface every trace of the war, and restore the South as a ruling power in the Republic. But we can hope for nothing good to ourselves, while we deem, as we do now, the whole of civic wisdom to consist in belching forth damnation to the Yankee and the nigger.

I am, Messrs. Editors,
Very respectfully,
V. C. BARRINGER.

Concord, Feb. 19, 1866.

A correspondent of the New York World says: "I have not seen the letter myself, but gentlemen in a position to be well informed, tell me that a letter has quite recently been received in this State from Gen. Robert Toombs at Havana, stating that he has just met in the streets of that city his former (negro) carriage driver, who told him he had been inveigled from his house in Georgia and sold to a Cuban slave dealer for thirteen hundred dollars! I understand that General Toombs further affirms in this letter that the slave trade does actually exist between this country and Cuba."

E. F. Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime,

OR

BONE MANURE.

WARRANTED GENUINE.

BEING MADE OF THE BEST MATERIAL AND in the most approved manner, it is recommended to the public as superior to any other in the market. All who have used it speak of it in the highest terms of praise, and those engaged in its manufacture will continue their best endeavors to advance the high reputation which it has acquired.

We guarantee the Phosphate to be well manufactured, and recommend it in preference to any other artificial manure in the market. We consider it nearly equal to the best Peruvian Guano, although furnished at half the price.

Messrs. B H. Allen & Co., the well known manufacturers of agricultural implements, say of it:

"We take pleasure in stating that we have sold E. F. Coe's Super-Phosphate of Lime for four years—It has given universal satisfaction to our customers. We most cheerfully endorse it as an article worthy of the confidence of the public, and the purchaser may rely upon securing an article honestly and carefully manufactured.

"We would state that, after careful examination, we believe this Phosphate has been improved each year since its introduction in this market, and that it will continue to maintain its present high standing. "Very respectfully,

"R. H. ALLEN & CO.,

PROSPECTUS

COSMOPOLITE.

ON THE FIRST OF JANUARY WE WILL commence the publication, in the City of Baltimore, of a monthly

Literary Magazine.

There is no publication of this character now issued South of New York City, and the closing of the war has left a large portion of the people of the country with no literary representative.

The COSMOPOLITE will be devoted to

Literature, Art, Reviews, Scientific Papers and General Reading, and we shall number among its contributors some of the first literary men of the South, with others from the North and from London and Paris.

All matter not original will be carefully selected from the newest and best of the English, French and German publications; and its Editors will spare no effort or expense to make it rank with the VERY FIRST magazines of the country.

As its name imports, we have established the COSMOPOLITE upon no sectional basis. We hope to make it the organ of general literature alone; and will be uninfluenced by any party or clique whatever.

It will be mailed to subscribers in any part of the country upon receipt of the following

Subscription:

Single Copies, for one year,	$4 00
Five Copies for one year,	18 00

Western North Carolina.

The want of mails cuts us off from this portion of our State too much for our comfort.—We are always glad to hear from the transmountain country. Yesterday we received the Ashville News, which we had not seen for some time, from which we gather the following items:

The News complains that they have no mails. What few exchanges it gets go by the way of Morganton, but there has been no mail connection between Ashville and Morganton for several weeks. We regret this, and hope that the mails will soon be supplied.

The News says the people are making unusual progress in preparations for farming.—Much plowing has been done, new land cleared and fences repaired.

Yancey county, which the News says is one of the best farming counties in the West, is becoming quiet and business is reviving.

Money is scarce—very scarce, yet the country has horses, mules, beef cattle, hogs, wool, beeswax, feathers, &c., to spare, which will bring money.

Messrs. Clayton and Son have secured, on the west side of French Broad river, a very eligible site for a furnace and other means for manufacturing purposes, and they expect to be able to furnish all the castings needed for that country.

THE LEGISLATURE.—The proceedings of the Legislature are entirely void of interest.

Greensboro Patriot.

We have seen similar allusions by our cotemporaries, and we submit them to the consideration of all concerned. It costs the press of the city no small amount to have the proceedings of the Legislature correctly reported; and it occasions no little pain to the said press, to have it thrown in their teeth, that the proceedings are "entirely devoid of interest." Well, if our reporters (!) don't make them more interesting, we may humbly petition the bodies, part of which they are some, to institute an inquiry as to the why and wherefore the aforesaid reporters do not make the before-mentioned proceedings of sufficient interest to be duly acknowledged by our cotemporary, the Patriot, and others.

But we must conclude that our aforesaid cotemporaries do not take the pains to "mark, learn and inwardly digest" the proceedings of the Legislature, or they would not only be interested, but edified and improved.

President Johnson.

The position of President Johnson is firmly and thoughtfully taken. He has counted the cost and he will be sustained by the country.—Conservative men of all parties at the North cannot fail to see the force and soundness of his position, and will not jeopard the peace of the Union, to secure merely partizan ends.

The indications are that the Radical wing of the Republican party, will not readily yield to the conservative and wise aims and purposes of the President. They will make issue with him at every point which does not seem at once to jeopard their own safty, but we look to the workings of truth and right in the masses for his vindication and their own overthrow.

A GOOD CITIZEN KILLED.—We regret to learn, that, on the night of the 17th inst., some unknown persons went to the house of Mr. Jno. S. Markham, of Pasquotank county, it is believed with the intention of robbing, when they killed Mr. M., but ran off for fear of being overtaken, without committing the theft. Mr. Markham was a highly respectable citizen of that County.

ABSENT.—Messrs. Leach, of Davidson, and Boner, of Forsythe, are detained from their seats in the Senate, by sickness in their families. Messrs. Morehead, of Guilford, and McCleese of Tyrell, are also confined to their rooms by indisposition.

GOV. VANCE.—We are pained to learn that Gov. Vance, at his home at Statesville, has been stricken with paralysis on one side. We have not heard particulars, and hope it is but slight.

Gen. Grant and the President.

The National Intelligencer corrects the rumors afloat in reference to the present relations of Gen. Grant and the President. It affirms that there is no alienation between them.

HIGH PRICE FOR TOBACCO.—A hogshead of tobacco, weighing nine hundred pounds, raised by Col. Edward Dalby, of Granville county, N. C., was sold yesterday, by Todd, Pugh & Co., at West Hill warehouse, for $1.05 per pound. Mr. Reuben Ragland was the purchaser. This is the highest figure paid for the weed which we have heard since the close of the war, and producers should take note of the fact, when they are considering to which market to consign their products. If they want the highest prices, they must come to the Petersburg market and they will not fail to obtain it.—Petersburg Index.

GOOD.—The N. Y. World alluding to Gen Grant's recent order in regard to the press, says:

A thrill of alarm must run through all the Radical presses, from the Tribune down, on reading the dispatch announcing, by General Grant's authority, that the persistent publication of articles calculated to keep up feelings of hostility between the different sections of the country will no longer be tolerated—without distinction made as to North or South.

A message from the House transmitting the following petition: The petition of George Cole, of Robeson county, respectfully sheweth unto your honorable body that he, during the late war, had two sons in the service of the United States, viz: Pickett and Stephen D. Cole, one of whom has not returned. Pickett, the first named, was never in the service of the Confederate States, but went on with the United States troops at the time when they passed through this county and afterward joined the army of the said United States at Wilmington, N. C., having previously been wounded by Wheeler's Cavalry at Fayetteville. Stephen D. Cole, the last named above, has not yet returned, but may still be in the service of the United States.

Now, your petitioner humbly complaining, respectfully sheweth that he has ever shown true allegiance to the United States, for which he has been much abused by his neighbors and the citizens in this vicinity, and further, that at the time when the United States troops passed through this county, a company of said troops under the command of Lieut. Danford Hair, of Pennsylvania, did take two mules and one horse, all of very fine quality and young, 4 and 8, and the said Danford Hair gave it as his opinion that some remuneration would be made, and having conversed with several prominent men belonging to the P. G. at Cheraw, S. C., they also think some remuneration should be made; and your petitioner does humbly pray that this may command your attention, and that you will cause it to be submitted to the Honorable, the General Assembly of North Carolina, and they will order or lease such compensation as appertains to justice on the part of your petitioner.

Now there is to the best of his knowledge no other such a case in this country and he honorably prays that he may have redress. He would further state that the two sons were under twenty-one years of age and that therefore your petition is entitled to all the compensation. Your petitioner having always been a union man has subscribed to all the oaths presented by the United States authorities.

The petition having been read, several propositions were made to refer, and on motion of Mr. Cowles, was referred to the committee on the Insane Asylum.

A message from the House transmitting as follows: A resolution providing for the adjournment of this General Assembly sine die on Monday the 12th day of March next at 7 o'clock A. M. Concurred in; also a resolution of thanks to the President of the United States, unanimously passed. (Said resolution appeared in the House proceedings on yesterday.) Also a message from His Excellency, the Governor in response to an inquiry in relation to the State salt works.

Bill to amend the charter of the town of Lenoir in Caldwell county. Bill to incorporate the Leaksville Female Academy.

The bill in relation to the Rock Island Company was amended, limiting the corporation to thirty years. It occasioned considerable discussion.

On motion the Senate adjourned until Monday at 10 o'clock, A. M.

Mr. Wilson moved to lay the bill on the table. Not agreed to, yeas 18 nays 79.

Mr. Faircloth, of Wayne, favored the substitute for the reason, that its practical operation would give more time to the country than the one before the House.

TRIAL OF MAJ. JOHN H. GEE.

FOURTH DAY.

DIST. HD'QRS., (Haywood House,)
Raleigh, N. C., Feb. 24th.

Court met according to adjournment.

Present all the members of the Commission, the prisoner and his counsel.

The proceedings of yesterday were read by the Judge Advocate.

Q. You say there was a detachment at the water gate. State the number of men it contained, and its officers, and what were their orders.

A. I said yesterday 25. There was 36. If I recollect the number of it commanded by a Lieutenant. The non-commissioned officers were a sergeant and two corporals. Their orders were to convey the prisoners to water and also to the wood pile. The guard was ordered at the gate, to open the gate whenever a number of prisoners presented themselves to go and get water from the creek. I am not positive whether the orders were to open this gate from sunrise to dark. We had written orders, but I can't tell what they were as I havn't got them, and I am only to tell what I know.

Q. Was it not the practice to open the gate any time after sunrise, for the prisoners to get water.

A. As soon as there came a number of men to the gate to get by the guard to get water they went. The prisoners when they presented themselves at the gate to get water were always escorted to the creek, when they presented themselves in sufficient numbers to be escorted there. This creek was about half a mile or less, from the prison.

Q. Were there high lands between the prison and the creek, where they got water?

A. There was a gradual descent from the prison to the creek.

Q. How deep a ditch would it have required to convey the creek into the prison?

A. I don't know.

[Here the President of the Commission stated that the defense was going beyond the record, but if there were no objection on the part of the Judge Advocate he might proceed to bring out new matter on the cross examination, but not by a leading question on any particular point.]

Q. State all you know as to Major Gee's seeing that the detachment went with the prisoners to get water? A. The Lieutenant had orders to allow them to get water, and to send a detachment with them. The water gate was closed about six o'clock, or dark.

Q. State what facilities were furnished the prisoners, to carry water from the creek to the prison?

A. They used barrels which had holes through the top of them, and were carried on handspikes—don't know whether the same squads could go to the creek as often as they wished for water—there was no order against it as I know of.

Q. When you were officer of the day, if you had seen a prisoner going to the creek to get water who had been there before during the day, would your orders have prevented your letting him go?

A. I don't think they would—I would have let them go. I have not seen the prisoners go out in squads to gather leaves outside of the prison, I have never seen them gather leaves.

Q. Did the government issue your regiment clothing?

A. We drew them from a Quartermaster—I suppose so.

Q. How much clothing and when?

A. I can only speak for our company, some of the men drew a waist coat, a round about coat, pants, drawers and shirt. I think it was in January, 1865, it was a short time before the prisoners were taken away according to my recollection. I don't recollect how many of our company drew clothing—our company numbered about 50 men, more than half of them drew this amount. I don't know whether they got the amount they were entitled to by the regulations. Our regiment was without uniforms.

(Here one of the court wished the witness to explain what he meant by the waistcoat, jacket and roundabout, which the men wore in his company? Was it one outer garment or two or three garments?)

A. It was an outside garment, a roundabout.

Q. Well, what is a roundabout? Something like a Yankee blouse? You know we call a loose coat a blouse.

A. Roundabout. (Laughter.)

Q. Did the government issue any clothing to your regiment prior to January, 1865.

A. We did not draw but once. I don't recollect whether in January or not.

Q. Was not the regiment to which you belonged entitled to the same allowance as other Confederate troops? A. I think they were.

Q. Do you know any thing about the scarcity of camp and cooking equipages among the garrison at Salisbury?

A. They were rather scarce—I can't describe in what articles—if there were axes and spades there, we did'nt get them.

Q. Did your officers try to get them for the troops?

A. The company officers tried to get the Colonel to draw them.

Q. Did the Colonel try to get them?

A. He said he did.

Q. Was there not a ditch to drain the sink in the prison?

A. There was one to drain it down to an old field. It went through a piece of woods, then into an old field. I don't know whether the ditch went clear to the creek or not. There were several ditches in the prison.

Q. But didn't you know? A. I think I do.—Q. Then where were they? A. Yes.

(Here a map of the prison was introduced and the witness was requested to point out the positions of the ditches in the prison, but being unable to understand the map the examination continued.

Q. Did not all the water run from the ditches into the sink?

A. It run from the ditches into the sink and from the sink out of the prison.

Q. Was there not a large force of the prisoners as a police party every day engaged in doing police duty in the prison?

A. I don't know as they were. Don't know whether there were a large number of persons engaged in cleaning up the prison.

Q. Do you know anything of the prisoners who were on duty outside being allowed to bring in wood. A. I don't know.

The counsel for the defense stated that he would not require this witness to be called back to give testimony for the defense, as he was so lacking in information.

The court then took a recess of 15 minutes.

On coming together again, the president of the commission stated that the room in the rear of the house adjoining the court room, would hereafter be reserved for the use of the prisoner and his counsel.

Same witness examined by the Judge Advocate.

Q. Explain to the court what you meant by the troops suffering at Salisbury.

A. They hadn't wood enough. They didn't have enough to eat, and they were without shelter.

Q. You consider all that as suffering?

A. I do.

The president of the commission then asked the following questions:

Q. When the ground was muddy and the weather bad, as you have stated, where did those prisoners lie, who were not under canvass, and did not burrow under ground?

A. I don't know; as officer of the day, I did not make general tours of inspection through the prison. I don't recollect that I was in the prison at the hour of tattoo.

Q. Were the rations supplied by the government and the food obtained from other sources sufficient to keep the guard and men on duty in good health?

A. I don't know as I can tell; our men were generally old, feeble men; I can't say whether it hurt them or not.

J. L. Lyerly, of Rowan county, being sworn, testified as follows, in reply to questions put by the Judge Advocate:

I have been in the Confederate army, was clerk of the prison at Salisbury, N. C., in 1863. I was sent to Salisbury from Lee's army with the expectation of getting the appointment of commissary in a regiment already formed. I was beaten for that office, and Major Giles, the commandant, assigned me to duty as clerk of the prison. This was sometime in the year 1864. I remained in this position till February, 1865. My duty was to keep a proper record of the prisoners—the number received, the number sent away, and the number who died; and to count, or to have counted, the prisoners every morning.

Q. Do you recognize the prisoner at the bar. A. I do.

Q. What is his name, and in what was he engaged when you knew him.

A. John H. Gee. He was in command of the prison in Salisbury from Sept. 64, till I left there. I never saw Major Gee's orders; but it was my understanding that he was assigned to duty there by the Secretary of War, and had to report to Brig. Gen. Gardner, in command of the department of prisoners at Richmond.

Q. What prisoners were confined to the prison when you first went there in 1863?

A. United States prisoners of war, regular soldiers from the army of the United States.

Q. What number of prisoners were confined in the prison at the time Maj. Gee took command there?

A. To the best of my recollection 250. That was in 1864. They were convicts and political prisoners.

Q. When were the first Federal prisoners carried there after Maj. Gee took command?

A. About the 4th or 5th of October. From the 1st to the 15th of Oct. '64 all were included who arrived there. The whole number who arrived there during this time, including convicts, political prisoners and prisoners of war—was 9,081.

Q. What accommodations were provided for the prisoners when they arrived?

A. No accommodations at all except the prison was pulled in. Some 200 tents were brought there as soon as they could be brought from Richmond and Petersburg and given to the prisoners. This was about two weeks from the time the prisoners arrived there. These tents were of different kinds, Sibley and wall tents.

Q. What arrangements were made for supplying them with food?

A. When the prisoners arrived, a number was sent to the post commissary and he furnished the rations. I don't know what arrangements he made to get them.

Q. Whose duty was it to ascertain the number of prisoners and to whom did he report?

A. Mine. I reported to the Commandant of the prison. I gave the number of prisoners, and the requisition for their rations was approved by order of Major Gee, the Commandant of the prison. These requisitions were printed in regular form. I can't answer the amount of rations furnished to the prisoners while there. I can state the kind, viz: rice, meal, flour, sorghum and beef, and some bacon was given to them occasionally—the beef was not fat. It was poor and very infirm—the parts of this beef issued were sometimes the heads, tripes, livers and lights. All the tripes I saw had their contents emptied out. Sometimes, when the sergeant brought his reports to the office, I saw nothing in the reports but heads.

Q. When meat of either kind was issued to the prisoners what other ration was given to them?

A. Flour or meal and rice. This as I know the prisoners got. They did not get meat daily. I don't know how long I have known the prisoners to go without meat. I gave the number of prisoners entitled to rations. The rice for the prisoners was made into soup by boiling in the broth from the boiling of the meat. I suppose as there was no broth on the beef, it was made with nothing but water alone when they used beef. The rice was thin. It was not so thick but it would flow over a pan after it was cooked. There was no regular allowance of this soup to the prisoners.

Q. Did you ever know the prisoners to receive no other ration but this rice soup?

A. I am not positive, but my impression is, that some days they received nothing but rice—don't know how long at any one time they were confined to this soup alone.

What clothing was furnished the prisoners?

A. Not any.

Q. What shelter other than tents?

A. No other. There were some houses occupied by political prisoners and convicts, before prisoners of war came there, which they continued to occupy.

Q. How many prisoners would these tents accommodate?

A. The Quartermaster estimated about 5000. He estimated about ten for the wall tents, and 40 for the Sibley tents. I never asked him the number, nor how many were allotted. The prisoners slept on the ground and on the blankets they brought with them. I don't think hardly one half had blankets.

Q. What was the nature of the soil and condition of the prison after rain.

A. Very muddy—the soil was muddy clay. The mud was shoe mouth deep in places and holes, in some places deeper, some not so deep. Can't tell what amount of wood was furnished the prisoners.

Q. What size sticks was the wood to burn given them?

A. Different sizes, some small, some large—a large stick an able-bodied man could carry.

Q. In what manner was the beef issued to the prisoners?

A. On two occasions the rations were given to them raw, when the bakery was out of fix.

Q. What facilities for preparing the wood they used for fire and cooking did the prisoners have?

A. Nothing was given to them to chop their wood. They had to prepare it the best way they could.

Q. Where was the hospital for the prison guard? and what its condition?

A. Outside of the enclosure. It was in good condition, they had bunks, mattresses and comforts. It was about 15 steps from the stockade.

Q. Where were the prison hospitals and what was their condition?

A. Inside of the enclosure—I never visited the hospital but very little, am not well enough acquainted to describe them. Those I recollect had no bunks; my impression is that they had straw in them.

Q. What amount of straw was furnished prisoners in Salisbury?

A. I recollect seeing three four loads inside of the enclosure. I don't know what it went to the hospital or not. That's all straw I recollect seeing unloaded inside of closure.

Q. Where did the prisoners get their supply of water?

A. Partly in the enclosure, and partly in creek outside the enclosure. There were wells, if I mistake not, inside of the enclosure. The rest of the water was gotten from branch.

Q. Did the prisoners receive a sufficient quantity of water to satisfy their thirst?

(The counsel for the defence interposed objection to this question, on the ground that the witness was not an adept in such matters. The Judge Advocate might examine the witness as to the quantity of water actually received by them, but not as to whether that quantity were sufficient to satisfy thirst thier.

(The court ruled that the witness might decide as to quantity, and then that cross-examination might be introduced in Court as testimony to show its sufficiency to satisfy that, just as counsel for the defense proposed to introduce the confederate ration to prove whether it was sufficient to satisfy hunger).

Q. Was there water furnished to the prisoners for other than drinking purposes?

A. Not as I know of.

Q. Where were the prison sinks.

A. Inside at the south part of the enclosure.

Q. What measures were used for the purpose of keeping off those sinks? A. The hound of the branch was obstructed so as to catch loose water during the sickness from the yard. When this got full the obstruction was removed, so that a portion of the water and excrement ran out of the enclosure. A very strong stench would arise from the sinks sometimes; I don't know how far out side the enclosure this might be perceived; I could sometimes smelt the stinck at the headquarters of Maj. Gee, a short distance outside the enclosure.

Q. Where was the dead house? A. It was about the centre of the enclosure. Q. How were the dead allowed to remain in the house? This question was objected to by the counsel for the defense on the ground that the Court had overruled it before. The Judge Advocate maintained that the ruling of the Court was against the introduction of testimony to prove the treatment of the dead. What he wanted to come at was the sanitary condition of the prison, and not the treatment of the dead. The President of the Court decided that this should not be reached by such a question.

Q. Was there any unpleasant smell arising from the dead house? A. It was unpleasant when you stepped into the house, but whether it came from the house or the dead, I don't know. Don't know how long the dead bodies were left in the dead house at any one time—no longer than one day within my knowledge.

Q. Explain to the Court what you mean by day. One day may mean that the bodies remained in the prison five or six days. The counsel for the defense said the Judge Advocate thinks that a day in prisons is longer than a day out. No doubt the poor fellows in there thought one day was as long as five or six days, but the witness had stated distinctly that they remained in there but one day or twenty-four hours, what we usually mean by a day.

The Judge Advocate wished the witness in reply to the question, by stating what time the bodies were carried in there and what time thereafter they were buried? A. The sergeant in charge of the dead house was instructed to bury in the morning all that be found in the dead house at that time. If any were carried there the night before, they were buried next day.

Q. Give the average number of deaths among the prisoners per day. A. I can't give the average number of deaths among the prisoners per day. I never went to the dead house. I left the report of these matters at Headquarters in February. I did not return to Salisbury after this, till after I was paroled with Johnston's army. I have not been at the prison since the surrender. I have seen it as I passed along the road and along the street. I am not able, of my own knowledge, to testify as to its present condition.

Q. When did the prisoners leave Salisbury to be exchanged? A. In February.

Q. Where were they sent? A. Part by way of Wilmington, and a part by way of Richmond and Petersburg. Rolls of the prisoners were made out by direction of the commandant, by the prisoners themselves.

Q. How many were sent by way of Wilmington? A. About 2500 went to Wilmington all who went by Petersburg rode, and there was such a rush to get on the train it is impossible to tell how many did go by Petersburg. They all wanted to get home first.

Q. How many prisoners were in the prison the day before they started away? A. I can't answer, for I don't know. If I were to guess at it, I would say about 5000.

(Col. Holland interrupted, but this isn't a guessing place, my friend, you must tell what you know.)

What was the least number of Federal prisoners you drew for at any one time? A. I can't answer that.

Q. Were you present at a conversation between Major Gee and Gen. Winder? A. I was.

Q. What was Gen. Winder's rank and command? A. A Brig. General in command of the Prison Department.

Q. State all that passed between Gen. Winder and Major Gee at that time. A. I was present when Gen. Winder was speaking to Major Gee about the outbreak that occurred in the prison, and Gen. Winder reprimanded Major Gee, because he ceased firing as soon as he did, and said that if an occasion of the same kind should ever occur again, he should not cease firing so soon.

Gen. Winder told Maj. Gee that this was not a suitable place for a prison, and Maj. Gee should not run the government to any expense in putting up buildings, for he, Winder, was going to move the prisoners farther South.—This is all the conversation I heard between the parties; I heard nothing said between the parties relative to building sheds for shelter.—This conversation occurred some time in December, if I mistake not. The prison was very muddy inside at that time, the weather was cool and it had been raining, if I mistake not.—There was a small quantity of lumber there at the time, I suppose between three and five thousand feet, belonging to the Confederate government; a part of this was used to put up a shelter for the guard, and some workshops. One of these shops was a blacksmith shop.

Q. State whether or not, within your knowledge, government lumber was used by Confederate officers to build or repair stables during the time the Federal troops were without shelters? A. I don't know.

Q. What business are you engaged in at present? A. The lumber business, in Catawba county, on the Western N. C. Rail Road. The mill, I have, was used during the war to saw lumber to fill government contracts. It will turn out, on an average, 2000 feet of lumber a day. During the war this mill was located in Burke county, about 70 miles from Salisbury.—There were three other mills between this and Salisbury during the war, Brickhouse's, Lindsey's and Barton's, all of the same capacity.

What were the resources of the country about Salisbury in regard to wood and lumber? A. Very good.

Q. Where was the lumber shipped which was sawed at your mill during the war? A. I do not know.

Q. What duties did Major Gee perform as commandant of the prison? A. I don't exactly know. He made out a requisition to the General for the number of guards he wanted for the prison, gave instructions to the officer of the day to give orders for the digging of the wells and the graves; requisitions for rations for the prisoners were signed and sent to the commissary by his command; the camp was policed by his command, water was brought there by his command.

Q. In regard to these sinks, if, after a rain, there was not a sufficient quantity of rain to fill these sinks, were they left over till the next rain? A. If there was not a sufficient quantity of water to wash it out, nothing else was done to it. It remained so.

Here, after notice from the president of the commission, as to a change in the sittings of the court, the Commission adjourned to meet again on Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

[In the report of the proceedings of the trial for the 23d inst. Mr. Holland, the counsel for the accused, is represented to have said "the president of this court was too good a lawyer not to know, that one can at any time, even after issue has been joined, introduce a plea in bar to the jurisdiction of the court."

It should read, "the president of the court is too good a lawyer not to know that objections to the jurisdiction of a court may be made in any form and at any time, either before or after pleading the general issue, and that this has been determined repeatedly by the Supreme Court of the United States, and is universal practice in all the State courts.]—Reporter.

AYER'S CATHARTIC PILLS,

Are the most perfect purgative which we are able to produce, or which we think has ever yet been made by any body. Their effects have abundantly shown how much they excel the ordinary medicines in use. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. Their penetrating properties stimulate the vital activities of the body, remove the obstructions of its organs, purify the blood, and expel disease. They purge out the foul humors which breed and grow disease, stimulate sluggish or disordered organs into their natural action, and impart a healthy tone with strength to the whole system. Not only do they cure the every day complaints of every body, but also formidable and dangerous diseases. While they produce powerful effects, they are at the same time, in diminished doses, the safest and best physic that can be employed for children. Being sugar-coated, they are pleasant to take; and, being purely vegetable, are free from any risk of harm. Cures have been made which surpass belief, were they not substantiated by men of such exalted position and character, as to forbid the suspicion of untruth. Many eminent clergymen and physicians have lent their names to certify to the public the reliabilities of our remedies, while others have sent us the assurance of their conviction that our Preparations contribute immensely to the relief of our afflicted, suffering fellow men.

The Agent below named is pleased to furnish gratis our American Almanac, containing directions for the use, and certificates of their cures, of the following complaints:

Costiveness, Bilious Complaints, Rheumatism, Dropsy, Heartburn, Headache arising from foul stomach, Nausea, Indigestion, Morbid Inaction of the bowels and pain arising therefrom, Flatulency, Loss of Appetite, all Diseases which require an evacuant medicine. They also, by purifying the blood and stimulating the system cure many complaints which it would not be supposed they could reach such as Deafness, Partial Blindness, Neuralgia and Nervous Irritability. Derangements of the Liver and Kidneys, Gout and other kindred complaints arising from a low state of the body or obstruction of its functions.

Do not be put off by unprincipled dealers with other preparations which they make more profit on. Demand AYER'S and take no other. The sick want the best and there is for them, and they should have it.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. AYER & Co., and sold by Williams & Haywood, P. F. Pescud, Raleigh, N. C., and Dealers generally.

THE SENTINEL.

Published Daily, Semi-Weekly and Weekly,
RALEIGH, N. C.

WM. E. PELL, Proprietor and State Printer.

EDITED BY

Wm. E. Pell & Sexton Gales.

THE SENTINEL is an independent newspaper—a warm supporter of the Union and the Constitution, of Andrew Johnson, our magnanimous President, and his policy, and devoted especially to the recuperation and prosperity of the South and of North Carolina.

It labors to promote harmony, good feeling and equal rights among all the States, but will rebuke all unfounded expressions against the loyalty and integrity of the Southern people.

Special attention will be paid to the news and market departments.

Full proceedings of the Legislature and all important State papers appear in the Sentinel.

Its circulation is believed to be equal to any in the State, if not the largest. Its advertising patronage is large and growing.

The Daily and Weekly are now issued—the Semi-Weekly will appear in a short time.

DAILY SENTINEL

WM. E. PELL, Proprietor.

From the Louisville Journal.

The following majestic poem, furnished to us by request, is from the pen of Rev. W. H. Platt, the accomplished and able Rector of Calvary Church in this city:

The Years of Time.

The years go by as like a trooping band
Of Pilgrim Prophets, chanting requiems
Or dirges o'er buried hopes and joys
They, mocking, promised. As, behind
Their tomb-ward feet, the dusty veil of dim
Forgetfulness enshrouds their paling forms,
We hear the dying tones of man's sad hymn
And the trampings of their muffled feet, far down
The Everlasting Aisles. They come like kings
And go like skeletons. The one just passed
Wore blooded armor,—clanging—treading o'er
A bleeding—tearful—horrified humanity.
This Nemesis of Time, with mailed hand,
Smote creeds and politics and forms of State—
It smote the true and beautiful and good—
It smote on sea and shore—on hill and plain—
It smote with brand and blade and hostile hosts,
Infernal enginry, and all that gold
And brain and energy of Hate invoked
To wreak its ghastly will.
Remorseless war—
All pitiless and dire and big with woe—
Enwreathed the faded year with glory crowns
Engorged its maw with brother's flesh and blood,
Lit up its path with torch of burning homes—
With blazing trains of flying shot and shell—
With lurid Pelegethons from guns and mines,
And, midst a wasted empire, paused to con
Its work of blood. But—
Let its wailings die
Like echoes heard in childhood's troubled dreams.
Think not of nameless graves; of agonies
From mothers, wives, and maidens wrung; of groans
From man's great heart; of wasted hall and hut—
Prolific fields in wilderness. Let some divine
Nepenthe give a swift oblivion!
The Miserere ends. Its record is
With God. In solemn thought, the human heart
In silence ponders sorrow's Epicycast,
And wails, in faith, God's future benedictions.
The year is gone for aye. Far down the steeps
Of ancient time it stalks, in aspect grim,
To join the Brotherhood of Centuries.
Behind it drop the leaves and flowers brushed
By sweepings of its dabbled robes: while winds
And waves and light and sounds and blasted hopes—
While griefs and tears and bursting shrieks, and groans
Call out to its departing form, "Leave us,
Thou messenger of ill."
Another year—
Another cheat—with necromantic spells,
With visage wreathed in blandest smiles of hope,
Behind the screen of Future Life, invokes
Our faith. Shall we be credulous again.
And trust to bubbles, nothing at the touch?
Let disappointments disenchant our hearts,
And lift them up to God. Redeem the year,
With self suppressions, prayers, and high resolves!
Live humbly, trusting God for future good!
Live not for Time, but, for Eternity. See far
Beyond these eddies of events—these hours
Of joy and years of pain—the guerdon bright—
Immortal youth and changeless love and peace
And ever growing thought and deep'ning fields
Of grandeur—angels, seraphs, jeweled hosts,
And uncreated light. O, Man! O, worm!
O, quenchless soul! O, child of God! These, these,
Survive the passions, names and deeds,
And proud report of man; survive the globe—
Survive the lofty stars and moon and sun—
Survive the years—survive the grave—survive
In God, the trophies of redeeming Love.

PRETTY GOOD FOR A WHITE PRESIDENT.—We hope that those radical editors who recently declared that President Johnson was inferior in intellectual capacity to a negro will have the grace to admit that his veto message is pretty good for a white President. They complained that they could find in his utterances neither sense, logic nor coherency; but they can discover all these and a great deal more besides in this admirable State paper. Clear, concise and emphatic in its style, dignified and judicial in its manner, irrefutably strong in its facts, utterly impregnable in its arguments, and equally sound, convincing and constitutional in its conclusions, this veto message will take rank with the very ablest efforts of the most accomplished minds, both as a literary production and as a thorough exposition of vital topics of statesmanship. It expresses in a few columns the views of the entire country in regard to the great question of reconstruction and the proper disposition of the freedmen.—New York Herald.

The Roman Catholic Bishop of Toronto has given the Irish permission to make their usual demonstration on St. Patrick's day, and they will be out in full force, and a conflict with the Orangemen is feared. Last Sunday the Bishop announced from the pulpit that the Fenian agitation had, at least the good effect of calling attention to Ireland's grievances. Petitions for redress were being circulated, and if some change was not made in Ireland before summer was over, desperate conflicts would, undoubtedly, ensue.

A well known New York merchant, says the Washington Union, writing from the South, states: "I believe no man will be molested who attends to his business and is disposed to deal fairly, either by law, lease or purchase."

DEATH OF A DISTINGUISHED MAN.—Rev. Alexander Campbell, the leader in the reform in the Baptist Church popularly known as "Campbellism," died in Kentucky lately. Mr. Campbell was a debater, and his controversies with Bishop Purcell, of Cincinnati; Robert Dale Owen, Rev. Mr. Rice, Presbyterian clergyman, and others, on theological points, have been published, and widely read.—New York Times.

LITTLE THINGS.—Springs are little things, but they are sources of large streams; a helm is a little thing, but it governs the course of the ship; a bridle-bit is a little thing, but see its use and powers; nails and pegs are little things, but they hold the parts of large buildings together; a word, a look, a frown are all little things, but powerful for good or evil. Think of this, and mind the little things. Pay that little debt; it is a promise, redeem it—it is a shilling, hand it over; you know what important events hang upon it. Keep your word sacredly—keep it to children, they will mark it, sooner than any one else; and the effects will probably be as lasting as life. Mind the little things.

It is said of Dr. Bascom, the Methodist clergyman, that his eloquence was such that on one occasion the whole congregation arose and pressed towards the pulpit. He once so excited Henry Clay that the latter exclaimed, "Well done, Bascom. Give it to them! Give it to them!"

That a man should be just and respectful towards all mankind, he must first begin with himself. A man—so to speak—who is not able to make a bow to his own conscience every morning is hardly in a condition to respectfully salute the world at any other time of the day.

BLESSINGS.—Thackeray tells of an Irish woman begging alms of him, who, when she saw him put his hand in his pocket, cried out, "May the blessings of god follow you all your life"—but when he only pulled out his snuff box, immediately added —" and never overtake ye!"

PRECAUTION AGAINST THIEVES.—A countryman in Savannah, Georgia, observed that a gang of darkies were working on the streets, each wearing a ball and chain. He asked one of them why that ball was chained to his leg. "To keep people from stealing it," said the darkey, "heap of thieves about here, massa."

North Carolina Map for 1866.

THE Subscriber has, after ten years of toil and experience, prepared this new and beautiful map from new engravings, with all the new Counties, Rail Roads, Post Offices, with hundreds of additions and corrections, State border views, likenesses of President Johnson, Andrew Jackson, J K Polk, Gov. Swain, Graham, Vance, &c., altogether presenting a superb Map, worthy of the State and a place in every household, vastly superior to any thing in this line in finish and beauty.

This Map is entirely from new engravings, and is a great improvement on Cooke's & Pearce's old Map.

Beware of Northern humbugs and impositions.

This Map is now ready for printing.

LIFE INSURANCE NOTICE.

THE old and well established

Ætna Company, of Hartford,

Offers superior inducements to all who wish to provide for family or friends.

All losses are promptly paid. No case of litigation has ever occurred with this Company. With assets of $2,300,000, it offers to receive one half of the premium in a note and half in cash, and, after the second year, to credit each customer with the dividends of the Company, which are now 50 per cent. With a small outlay, $5000, or $10,000, or $20,000, may be secured to the family after their earthly providers are taken away. What father or husband would not feel thankful on his dying couch, that he had availed himself of every proper means to place those nearest and dearest to him, also at the promptings of want, and a life of dependence upon friends or charity? 8 819 policies have been issued from the office ending Jan. 15 1866. The total income for the year 1865 was $1,683,320 57; total disbursements $527 805 24, leaving a balance to surplus fund of $1,155,214 33.

In Raleigh, a large number have liberally responded and promptly acted in this matter; yet many delay, and may wait until it is too late. A man in this city lately left his place of business for his evening meal, well and healthy, but never reached that home except as he was carried there to die. Had that man taken the advice of the Agent, he might have left $5000 to minister to the necessities of a sorrowing family. Delays are dangerous; procrastination destructive. But one says, "If I only had confidence in the Company that it would pay, I would insure." Well, it never has failed to pay, and to-day is more responsible than ever before. It is patronized by some of the most sagacious minds in the land—men competent to detect and expose any deception if it existed.

Store No. 20 South Delaware Avenue,

THIS valuable Manure has been before the agricultural public, under one name for twelve years past, and its character for vigor of action and permanence in effect is well established. Before the war, it was introduced, to some extent, in the Southern States, and was found to be highly adapted to Cotton, Tobacco, and all Crops.

In its action, it is as quick as Peruvian Guano, while it does not leave the land in an exhausted state, but on the other hand permanently improves it. This has been fully proven by years of trial.

PROSPECTUS

OLD NORTH STATE

"The Old North State Forever."

THE undersigned will commence the publication of a Daily and Weekly Newspaper, bearing the above title, in the city of Salisbury about the 10th of March next.

The Old North State will be, under our control, a firm and decided Union paper. But while it will be firm and decided in its support of the Union, and all just and necessary measures tending to its complete restoration, it will not be liberal and conservative. It will oppose radicalism from whatever quarter it may come. Confiding in the loyal intentions of the great body of the people of North Carolina, it will endeavor to soothe the asperities of the past by promoting among them a spirit of reconciliation and harmony.

Rejecting the exploded dogma of paramount State sovereignty, it will cheerfully support the National government in the exercise of every power necessary to the maintenance of its rightful authority, while it will ever contend against any encroachments upon the reserved rights of the States.

It will discuss all the various political issues of the day, but in doing this it will seek to avoid everything like partizan bitterness or personal vituperation. It will also strive to avoid that detestable practice, so common among politicians, of pandering to the passions and appealing to the prejudices of the multitude in order to accomplish partizan ends. It will endeavor to enlighten and direct aright public sentiment, by disseminating correct information, and by arguments addressed to the understanding—in short it will endeavor to erect a high standard of political morality.

Its columns will be open for Political, Moral, Literary and Agricultural articles, especially, and to the advertising public.

The Old North State will be printed on new type, on the following

THE LOYALIST.

THE undersigned propose to publish in Louisburg, North Carolina, a newspaper under the above denomination, The LOYALIST, as its name imports, will yield a firm, uniform, and fearless support to the Constitution of the United States, and all laws enacted in pursuance of that great instrument. To the decisions of the Supreme Court of the nation, in such questions as originate in the interpretation or application of the principles involved in our federal jurisprudence or policy, the Loyalist will accord its unqualified acquiescence, as to the will of the American people, duly expressed through the only legitimate, determinate and sufficient medium. Its general politics will be those so long and so thoroughly taught by the patriotism, the eloquence, and the wisdom of Clay, and its departed compeers, and so fearfully vindicated by the present melancholy and helpless condition of the communities so recently arrayed in arms against the integrity and harmony of our national union.

The Loyalist would make the institutions and independence, the material and moral dignity of the nation, as enduring and as brilliant as the stars whose images adorn the field and the folds of its flag. The Loyalist will also dedicate its energies and exert its influence to ascertain and cherish the interests, as well as to develope the immense resources of North Carolina. To the cause of education, the general diffusion of knowledge, the elevation of the masses, and the religious culture of all within its influence, it will be a consistent and inflexible friend. Its editorial department will be conducted by gentlemen whose names will be announced in due time.

The LOYALIST will be issued weekly, carefully printed, of the size of the Raleigh "Daily Sentinel," and furnished to patrons at $3 00 per annum, payable on delivery of the first number. Subscriptions and communications respectfully solicited.
